Ruins May Contain More Bodies

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP) — A truck with 6 1/2 tons of explosives aboard caught fire from a burning building and blew up here early Friday.

It slammed shock waves and fire through block after block in the heart of the city, killing at least 10 people and almost certainly more.

Coroner C. H. Babbitt said he did not know how many bodies would be found. There were nine late in the day. One man was known to be missing and presumed dead.

Only fragments of the buildings were left in an area of six square blocks where there had been warehouses, small businesses and some second-story apartments.

Hundred Injured
Eight small frame homes were destroyed. Many more were hard hit.

Terribly burned bodies were pulled from ruins and ashes. A hundred or more were injured.

Buildings in the main business district were torn, their windows gone and doors splintered. Heat at the start of the disaster was so intense firemen Lyle Westcott said, "I looked down and saw the skin peeling off my hands."

Arlo Jacklin, mayor of this city of 12,200 located 185 miles south of Portland, estimated property damage at 10 to 12 million dollars.

Scorching ashes were there had been a rooming house over a business building were believed to hold more dead. Babbitt said the ashes would be sent to a laboratory for an estimate of the number.

30 Deaths Possible
County Civil Defense Director Arthur Selby said the toll might be as high as 30.

Hospitals admitted 52 injured and treated more as outpatients. By nightfall all but 23 had been released. Some of those still held were in critical condition.

The blast and fire left a dirt-bare circle 200 feet across. In the center was a hole where the explosives truck had been. The crater was at least 20 feet deep and 50 feet across.

Destruction was so complete that over three square blocks everything was leveled. In another three, only bits of buildings jutted up, still smoking.

Half a mile away windows in Mercy Hospital were broken. Two miles away windows in a house were blown out. Half a dozen blocks from the scene, Central Junior High School stood with walls so badly cracked it was declared no longer safe for use.

Contents of jewelry store windows were scattered. Bank doors hung off their hinges.

A truck cargo of two tons of dynamite and 4 1/2 tons of ammonium nitrate caused the shattering blast.

Spread To Truck

Driver George Rutherford, 47, Chehalis, Wash., parked the truck Thursday night on the street beside the Gerretsen Building Supply Co. and went to the Umpqua Hotel. At 1:15 a. m., the sound of a fire siren sent him racing down the street. The fire was in the Gerretsen building.

It spread quickly to the truck. Rutherford was running toward it, still a block away, when his truck exploded. He was smashed to the ground. Dazed and all but incoherent, he reached Gerald Butler, Eugene, Ore., insurance man.

"He was crying. Let me go. Let me go. I've got to go down there and see how many people I've killed," Butler said.

Rutherford was hospitalized with the undetermined injuries. His company, the Pacific Powder Co. of Tenino, Wash., said all safety regulations had been complied with.

Ammonium nitrate was the explosive that ripped Texas City, Tex., apart in 1947 with the loss of 561 lives.

Help Arrives

Firemen here were joined by men and equipment from surrounding towns and when they had controlled the roaring blaze soon after dawn, the city began to take stock of its losses.

The names of six dead were known and a seventh was presumed dead. The coroner said further identification would be slow.

Known dead, all from Roseburg, were Asst. Fire Chief Ray McFarland, one of the first at the scene; Harry Camichael, about 50; William C. Unrath, whose wife watched him walk into the burning Gerretsen building just before the blast; Dennis Tandy, 13; Richard Knight, 20; and Bonnie Jean Berg, 19, who was standing on a corner not far away when the explosion came. Policeman Donald de Sues, 32, was presumed dead.

Long Billed For Plane Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana was billed for $4,251 Friday for unauthorized use of National Guard planes for 45 minutes.

The Air Force rendered the bill without comment on whether it expects it to be paid.

Nor did it say what trips used up the flying time, but one of them could have been the flight on which Mrs. Long and others took Long to a Galveston, Tex., mental clinic June 30.

Attending Geneva Parley A 'Sobering Experience'

By Bobby Westbrook

FAMILY rather than international relations will be the main concern for Joseph C. Wheeler, who returned yesterday after two years in Rome, where he has served as administrative head for the United States Information Service for Italy.

Two weeks ago, he was in Geneva on USIS business and was fortunate enough to have the opportunity to attend one of the plenary sessions of the meeting of the Big Four conference on Berlin. He also attended the regular press conference given by Assistant Secretary of State Andrew Berding, following the session.

"It was a sobering experience," he said, "and one which made me appreciate anew the difficulties in finding basis for agreement between the East and West.

"In the conference room there was a definite feeling of being set in the framework of history with the diplomatic heads of four of the greatest powers in the world seated together around that famous 'round table'.

"Incidentally, there were also two square tables flanking the round one: one for the East German observers and one for the West Germans, separated by the table for the secretariat."

The mechanics of the conference, he explained, were very similar to those used by the United Nations, with earphones to carry the direct remarks as well as simultaneous translations. After each talk, a re-translation was given in the two official languages, English and French.

In the open sessions, such as he attended, it is evident that the foreign ministers are speaking not so much as individuals but as official representatives of their respective nations. The statements are evidently very carefully prepared and coordinated for the record.

Attendance at the conference has been highly restricted, he explained, but each session was followed immediately by press conference when the full statements of the spokesmen were released. Press briefings were also held following the closed sessions.

In the press conference, the reporters are given a summary of the day's proceedings together with comments on the status of the negotiations. Reporters were penetrating in their questions and quick to jump on an unusual turn of phrase.

Royal Couple Expecting Third Child

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II will have a third baby early next year—the first to be born to a reigning British arch in more than a century.

Her health is fine, her doctors said. She was off in the Scottish Highlands for a holiday at Balmoral Castle with her husband, Prince Philip, and their two children.

"I'm looking forward very much to my holiday at Balmoral," she told greetings officials on her arrival. They had not yet been let in on the royal secret.

January, February
The 33-year-old Queen looked happy and healthy. The news of the coming blessed event was made public Friday in formal style at Buckingham Palace a few hours after she vanished behind the walls of Balmoral Castle.

January or February seemed the date. Court officials said it was in late June that the Queen had a strong suspicion she was pregnant.

But she had refused to call off her Canadian tour to dedicate the St. Lawrence Seaway or her visit to Chicago several weeks ago for fear it would disappoint Canadians and Americans.

The royal baby now on the way will be the first born to a reigning British sovereign since the birth of Princess Beatrice to Queen Victoria in 1857.

The Queen's other children were born before the death of her father, King George VI, when she was still Princess Elizabeth.

The Queen's other children are: Prince Charles Philip Arthur George, born Nov. 14, 1948; and Princess Anne, Elizabeth Alice Louise, born Aug. 15, 1950.

Elizabeth was crowned Queen on June 2, 1953.

The birth will change the line of succession to the throne. Prince Charles now is first, Princess Anne second and Princess Margaret, the Queen's 28-year-old sister, third. If the baby is a boy he, No. 2 in succession ahead of Anne, if a girl, she will come after Princess Anne but before Princess Margaret, who drops from third to fourth in any case.

The 166 cases in the week of July 18 had been a 50 percent jump over the total in the week ended July 11.

From Jan. 1 through Aug. 1 there had been 1,324 paralytic cases. This compared with 579 in the similar 1958 span. In 1955, before the Salk polio vaccine became available, 2,525 paralytic cases had been reported by the last week of July.

Surgeon Gen. Leroy E. Burney said that in general the new cases reported last week represented small clusters of cases in all parts of the country, except for New Haven, Conn.

The New Haven area reported about 13 cases of all types, with three deaths, through last week.

Ike At Gettysburg
GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower drove here from Washington Friday to spend the weekend. He will return to the capital Monday and then come back here Tuesday to start an official vacation.

Slayer Has Surgery
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Kyril Czupczuk, who Thursday killed two elderly men and wounded five others with a shotgun at a home for the aged, underwent a seven hour operation Friday.

Woman Dies Of Burns
TUNKHANNOCK (AP) — Two trucks collided on Route 309 Friday and flaming gasoline inflicted fatal burns on Mrs. Justine Sharp, 20-year-old wife of one of the drivers.

Ike Going To Europe On Aug. 28

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will go to Europe about Aug. 28 for Allied conferences leading up to his Sept. 15 meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Washington.

The White House announced Friday that Eisenhower will go first to London for several days of informal talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Then on Sept. 2 he will go to Paris to meet with French President Charles de Gaulle.

With Adenauer

Arrangements also are under discussion between Washington and Bonn for a meeting between Eisenhower and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said he would make an announcement on this as soon as plans are settled.

Formal announcement of Eisenhower's trip to London and Paris was another step in the intricate international fabric being woven for the Eisenhower-Khrushchev meetings which are now due to take place in Washington next month and in Moscow later this year.

In announcing last Monday that he and the Soviet Premier would exchange visits in an effort to melt a little of the cold war ice, Eisenhower said he would fly to Europe later this month to confer with the heads of West Europe's Big Three governments — Britain, France and West Germany.

West Spokesman

He said then that he could not act as spokesman for the Western powers when he meets with Khrushchev. The Presidents projected trip obviously is designed to get all the Allied signals straight in advance of Khrushchev's departure for Washington.

Hagerty said it is possible that Eisenhower, while in Britain and France, might visit outside the capital cities.

Navy Experimental Radar Looks Over Earth's Curve

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy disclosed Friday night it has developed an experimental radar system which can look over the curve of the earth and spot a ballistic missile almost at once after it is launched 5,000 miles away.

But it is only a device still in the early development stage and no actual operating system has been set up. The program, named Project Tepee, has been in progress about two and half years. It is being carried out by the Office of Naval Research.

A scientist told a news conference that successful tests in detection were made during last summer's high altitude nuclear-missile experiments over the South Atlantic and in the mid-Pacific.

In those tests, atomic explosions of the missiles were detected from a location in the United States.

Dr. William M. Thaler of the Naval Research Office said in answer to a question about the system that "you could hope it would double the warning time possible under ballistic missile warning systems now being built."

These systems are intended to give about 15 minutes warning, when the missile is about halfway in flight to target.

Hawaiian Island Of Kuai Battered By Hurricane Dot

HONOLULU (AP) — The lush little Hawaiian island of Kuai lay torn and battered Friday in the wake of Hurricane Dot. The roaring storm flattened buildings, flooded rivers and blacked out power and communications facilities.

Extensive damage to the island's sugar and pineapple plantations was expected.

No Casualties

There were no known casualties among the 28,000 islanders. Nearly 1,000 persons, including 200 tourists at the Coco Palms Lodge, a favorite resort center, fled Thursday from flooded low-lying areas to emergency centers in schools, armories and public buildings.

"There's an awful lot more damage than we can estimate now," said a weary city defense worker. He said he believed damage exceeded the million-dollar loss caused by Hurricane Nina in December 1957.

When telephone communications failed amateur radio operators took over. Water shortages threatened Lihue and smaller communities after power failures stopped pressure pumps.

Hurricane Dot slammed in Kuai after sideswiping the other Hawaiian islands. Oahu, site of Honolulu, was hit by heavy rains and high winds. A few roofs were blown off.

Hurricane Dot headed off into the Pacific, northwest of Kuai.

Instruments To Probe Into Space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States Friday fired into a wide-swinging orbit a 142-pound paddlewheel satellite—a miniature laboratory jammed full of instruments to probe the mysteries of space.

The launching from this missile test center went without a hitch. The spheroid-shaped satellite—dubbed Explorer VI—blasted off in the nose of a 90-foot, three-stage Thor-Able rocket at 10:23 a.m.

Two hours and 37 minutes later, the government space agency in Washington announced it had gone into orbit. In midafternoon it was announced the orbit was stable and that all the instruments then tested were working perfectly.

Data received in the first seven hours of its flight indicated the satellite's elliptical orbit was taking it to a peak altitude of 25,950 miles and a low point 152 miles above earth. Advance expectations were for an outer reach of 23,000 miles and a close-in range of 160 miles.

The space agency said it would have no further reports until after 8 a.m. EST Saturday.

Stay Up Year

Scientists said Explorer VI will stay up for more than a year.

It was described as the most comprehensive scientific package sent aloft by the United States so far—a forerunner of bigger, more advanced research vehicles.

Packed into the spheroid were instruments designed to carry out 15 major experiments, most of them looking ahead to the day when the United States sends its first man into space.

Some of the devices will investigate the extent and density of potentially deadly radiation belts around the earth. Others will measure the density of cosmic dust. Also aboard is a television-like scanning instrument built to send back crude pictures of the earth's cloud cover.

One unique feature is an arrangement of four solar vanes, each three feet long, designed to spring out from the side of the satellite. It is these paddle-like vanes which give the Explorer its unofficial nickname of paddle-wheel satellite.

Convert Rays
The purpose of the vanes is to convert the sun's rays into electrical energy to power radio batteries and recharge them during the satellite's lifetime. Scientists said that if the solar generating system works as planned, future space ships may be able to send back radio message from 20 million to 50 million miles out.

Explorer VI—26 inches in diameter and 29 inches long—was carried into orbit by a three-stage rocket. The first stage was an Air Force Thor intermediate-range ballistic missile. The second and third stages were developed from the Navy's Vanguard rocket. The third stage was believed likely to go into orbit with the spheroid itself.

Attached to the base of the satellite was a five-pound kick rocket to provide added speed of 50 to 100 miles an hour, and thus lift its orbit a bit, if it came closer than 100 miles to earth. This rocket would be fired by ground signal.

The launching proceed like oiled clockwork. The Thor-Able rocket sputtered from the launching pad, trailing a plume of fire. The three stages were designed to ignite in about 4 1/2 minutes, sending the satellite into space at 22,000 miles an hour.

The spheroid's transmitters are set to operate on 108.06 and 108.09 megacycles and an undisclosed high frequency.

Missed Biggest Thrill: 'Seeing' Yankees Win

IRENE VAN WHY finally got her chance to "see" her beloved Yankees play baseball Thursday afternoon. The term "see" is used because Irene is almost blind.

She and her companion, sister-in-law Betty Van Why, were driven to New York City Thursday morning. It was Irene's first trip.

Irene, of 105 N. Courtland St.,

East Stroudsburg, can barely discern light and dark and is aware of movement.

For the first time in her life (she's 22) Irene crossed the big bridge, the George Washington.

Workers were busy drilling away the rock ledge of the Palisades on the New Jersey side to make way for the approach to the lower deck.

After having lunch at an Upper Broadway restaurant, Irene and Betty were driven past the empty Polo Grounds across the Harlem River to the tremendous Yankee Stadium.

The girls were seated behind the screen near home plate. Irene didn't get a chance to visit with any of her heroes but her favorite announcer, Mel Allen came down and talked to her.

Detroit Spoils Her Fun
Mel told her that had he known she was coming he would have arranged for her to get a set of ear-phones. Everything was perfect for Irene except for a little nervousness due to the excitement.

However, Casey Stengel and Company left her down miserably. The score was four to nothing in favor of Detroit.

Miss Van Why's interest in baseball began by listening to the WVFO broadcasts. Listening to the game is almost a life-and-death struggle for Irene. If the Yankees lose, a little bit of Irene is lost too.

Irene knows all the players on the Yankee squad as if they were her brothers. She knows their heights, weights, ages, batting averages, and their marital status.

Favorites Lose
When someone asked her Thursday night how the game came out, Irene just hung her head and the questioner knew. Irene and Betty were the guests of the Lions Club of the Stroudsburgs, whose number one community aid is sight conservation.

ALTHOUGH NEARLY BLIND, Irene Van Why thrilled to experience of "seeing" her favorites, the New York Yankees, in action at Yankee Stadium this week. She was a guest of Lions Club. Only disappointment: Detroit won the ball game, 4-0.

'International Priority' Chosen As Sermon Topic

THE 11TH SUNDAY after Trinity will be observed at the 11 a.m. service tomorrow in Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg. Rev. William F. Wunder will deliver the sermon on the theme, "International Priority." This service will be aired over WVPO.

Altar flowers and bulletins will be placed by Edwin Miller and family in memory of wife and mother, Mrs. Mary Miller. George E. Altman, Clayton E. Halmbach, Charles W. Buesz, Jr. and Charles W. Buesz, Jr. will serve as ushers and Lawrence Dilline and William L. Miller will be acolytes.

The Youth Chorister Choir, with Mrs. Ann Herman directing, will sing an anthem. Numa J. Snyder will serve as guest organist. Robert L. Wolbert will be guest tenor soloist. Carroll A. All will direct the Chancel Choir in leading the congregational singing.

Church School will be held at 9:45 a.m. The annual Sunday School picnic will be held Tuesday afternoon and night at the East Stroudsburg Playground. The picnic supper is scheduled for 5:30 p.m. under the pavilion. It will be a joint picnic with St. John's Lutheran Sunday School of Stroudsburg. Games for all will be held.

Vesper service on Sunday night is set for 8 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Smithfield at Craigs Meadows, with Pastor Wunder preaching. Sunday School at St. Paul's will be held at 10 a.m. ed by the organist, Ernest Mischel, and the choir, Mrs. Marjorie Barnes will be singing a solo.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Long will serve as host and hostess at the front doors of the sanctuary. Miss Ruth Flory and Miss Irene Miller will be in charge of the nursery at the time of worship. The deacons who will serve as ushers will be Emerson Stanton, Leroy Kleinle, Herbert Rice, Clarence Frederick and Allen Hazen.

He will preach on "The Secret of Never Losing Heart." His biblical reference will be II Corinthians chapter 4:16 to 5:10.

Special music will be provided by the organist, Ernest Mischel, and the choir, Mrs. Marjorie Barnes will be singing a solo.

Methodist Church To Hold Outdoor Service At Home

A FINE VANTAGE POINT for viewing Delaware Water Gap is afforded at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hartman, who live at the summit of Cherry Lane Road, back of Anomink village.

To the Hartman home tomorrow at 7 p.m. will come the outdoor service of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor of the church, will preach on "The Unreaped Corner," a theme based on a study on the ancient code of the Israelites regarding the garnering of the harvest.

A mixed quartet will sing. Paul Bartholomew will lead the hymn sing, with Mrs. Isabel J. Leedom at the organ. A trumpet duo will assist with the singing. Light refreshments will be served at the close of the service.

Two Services The congregation of the church will participate in two morning worship services. The Matin Hour at 8:45 a.m. at which the Chorister Choir of the church will sing and at 11 a.m. when special music, arranged by Wally Hornbrook, minister of music, will be presented. The pastor will conclude a series of sermons on the first two verses of the twelfth chapter of the Epistle to the Romans. His theme Sunday is "Dedicated Men."

The Welcome Quartet for the day will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kistler. The kindergarten, which serves during morning worship, will be staffed by Mrs. Bruce Bird and Mrs. Thomas Carmella. The flowers in the memorial altar vases are to be provided through the courtesy of the Altar Guild and the Women's Society of Christian Service.

Rev. Stimson To Continue 'Self Series'

REV. ROGER C. STIMSON will preach tomorrow at the 11 a.m. service of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church on "Our Greatest Problem—The Control of Self." This is the second of a series on "The Self and Its Religion."

Robert Kranendonk will sing two baritone solos and the quartet will sing an anthem under the direction of Mrs. Harold Treible. Mrs. William Metzger will play the organ accompaniment and three organ numbers.

The church-time nursery will be conducted by Mrs. Lloyd Miller and Miss Virginia LaBar. The flowers will be given by Mrs. Thomas Rinehart in memory of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Salathe.

At the 7:30 p.m. vesper service, Rev. Stimson will preach on "The Use We Make of Our Resources." Mrs. Treible will play the organ.

Rev. Stimson To Continue 'Self Series'

REV. ROGER C. STIMSON will preach tomorrow at the 11 a.m. service of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church on "Our Greatest Problem—The Control of Self." This is the second of a series on "The Self and Its Religion."

Robert Kranendonk will sing two baritone solos and the quartet will sing an anthem under the direction of Mrs. Harold Treible. Mrs. William Metzger will play the organ accompaniment and three organ numbers.

The church-time nursery will be conducted by Mrs. Lloyd Miller and Miss Virginia LaBar. The flowers will be given by Mrs. Thomas Rinehart in memory of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Salathe.

At the 7:30 p.m. vesper service, Rev. Stimson will preach on "The Use We Make of Our Resources." Mrs. Treible will play the organ.

On Aug. 21, the WSCS of the church will have a lawn fete on the church lawn.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	12	35-36
Monday	Psalms	84	1-6
Tuesday	Job	5	8-17
Wednesday	Isaiah	9	1-6
Thursday	Jeremiah	13	15-17
Friday	Lamentations	3	22-26
Saturday	John	14	6-13

Have you ever been deep in a woodland, where it is so dark that you think light can never enter? Then suddenly a shaft of sunlight strikes through the trees, and you find yourself standing in unexpected beauty.

Life can be like that, too. At the darkest moment, suddenly there can be light—if you have the power to see it. But that's an important "if." So many of us fumble through the days and years when the greatest candle of all, the Church, stands ready to light our path.

If you have been depriving yourself of the guiding strength of the Church, start now attending its services. It will help you find your way both in sunlight and in shadow.

Unwise Legislation

Early August has a special significance for residents of Monroe County. It's a time of the year which everyone would just as soon forget, though, because few—if any—of us like to receive our local tax notices.

The taxes being levied by the various boroughs and townships are, for the most part, higher than those of past years. Only those persons who had previously paid more than their rightful share will find their tax bill lowered this year.

The situation is not unique in Monroe County, however. Everywhere, there has been a steady climb in local, state and federal taxes over the years. For many people, the tax limit seems to have been reached.

There is a mounting clamor for government agencies to clamp the lid on spending by shaving all unnecessary expenditures from their budgets. The demand is for the elimination of all frills in government.

In this connection, we are happy to see Monroe County's board of commissioners take the lead in fighting a bill before the General Assembly which would require every county to assess real estate at 60 percent of fair market value for tax purposes.

Under the county's new tax equalization and reassessment program, a rate of 35 percent of market value is used. The commissioners feel this is sufficient, for Monroe County at least.

They said, in a resolution, that "no good purpose would be served by having a compulsory rate affixed by the Legislature as the basis of assessment but, on the contrary, might result in excessive expenditures by various taxing districts."

We heartily agree, and join the commissioners in imploring State Sen. William Z. Scott and Rep. Van D. Yetter, our representatives in Harrisburg, to solicit the support of other legislators against this bill. Any measure which gives almost unlimited spending powers to taxing bodies is fraught with too many dangers and should be allowed to suffer a miserable death.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Radar And Drunks--We Do Nothing

Senator George Wade of Cumberland, chairman of the Senate Highways Committee says that his mail is almost 100 percent against the legalization of radar to check speeders in Penna.

Maybe he ought to check the driving records of those who are sending him the letters in opposition. A large percentage of them could be drivers who know how effective radar is and they may be worried about it.

Those who adhere to the speed laws and drive safely have no gripe against it. But neither do they feel worked up enough about it to send letters endorsing the idea. They might be said to be neutral. If radar is approved they will make no protest.

Many of our own states and some of the Canadian provinces use the device. When a motorist is apprehended he has no argument. He knows he's wrong.

But that's what makes some motorists incensed—because they hate to admit their error.

It appears that Pennsylvania will do with radar what it does with its drunk-driver—nothing.

The Pennsylvania Story

Smoked-Up Legislation

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg—Walk into the rotunda of the Main Capitol Building on almost any day of the week and you will find the Legislature in session and, as one up-state visitor phrased it this week upon entering from the outside: "It looks like you're walking into the middle of a smoldering forest fire!"

Unquestionably the visitor from the northern part of Penn's Woods has a point although he had never noted it, apparently having been accustomed to the smog over the years. . . . The point nevertheless is interesting and this is the reason the Rotunda is usually smogged-in Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The State Senate and the House of Representatives are located on the second floor of the Main Capitol Building—separated by the yawning five-story high Rotunda which is open from the inside tile floor to the top of the Capitol dome.

You have 210 members of the House and 50 members of the Senate. . . . Add to this an equal batch of lobbyists, onlookers, visitors and aides and you have quite a pack of people.

An amazing number of these are continually puffing on cigars, cigarettes, pipes, and all we know—snuff.

The House and Senate chambers are well air-conditioned and as a result well smoke-filtered. . . . Not so the Rotunda and outside the legislative chambers where queues of legislative and non-legislative gentry gather to puff and chew over affairs of state. . . . The net result: Well smoked legislation.

For the tobacco lobby, Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays unquestionably are happy days!

Capitol Hill Laughingstock—Thanks for the most part to the 35-member delegation from "big city" Philadelphia, Administration Democrats who "control" the House of Representatives with their 108 members (106 needed to pass legislation) have become the laughingstock of Capitol Hill.

Reason: To controlling House Democrats falls the responsibility for whipping a tax program through the lower chamber. . . . Four weeks ago they finally agreed upon a compromise 4% sales tax with—of all things—GOP arch-rivals agreeing to provide a dozen needed votes.

As the bill was scheduled for roll call the city slickers from Philadelphia suddenly went on a pout and decided not to support their own party unless assured of special concessions for their own little village along the banks of the Delaware. . . . The tax collapse followed.

The score now and the reason for the 108-member Democratic bloc in the House becoming Capitol Hill's latest laughingstock: It is the Philadelphia bloc—that now is openly calling the shots on the Lawrence Administration as well as legislative Democrats, a bitter fact whether party fire-breathers like it or not.

The Light On The Hill—Into the Senate this week went legislation that should make life a little more livable in many of the State's school districts. . . . The legislation would hold market valuations of local districts to the 1957 level.

Importance of the bill: When the State Tax Equalization Board on June 30 certified market valuations for each school district for the year 1958, in nearly every case the valuations were up. . . . The net result: In most instances the higher local market valuations means lower state subsidy reimbursements. . . . For some school districts it means virtually losing their financial shirts. . . . Number of school districts affected: Some 2000.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Urges Letter Writing

Dear Mr. Editor:

Re: The Incomplete Thruway.

Some time ago we suggested that a letter-writing campaign be used to call attention to the seriousness of the Stroudsburg bottleneck.

Now we have noticed that others are of the same mind, namely the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn. However, this organization suggests that prominent people write to Governor Lawrence and the secretary of highways.

We still feel that this might be a method of getting some action. But we prefer that everybody who can use a pencil, pen or typewriter send a message to the responsible parties.

This can only work though if The Daily Record plugs it and also radio station WVFO. Let's give it to them, but good!

CUTIES

DO YOU RECALL when trolley cars made regular stops at High and Main Sts. intersection in Delaware Water Gap? This photo, taken about a half century ago, shows two trolleys taking on and discharging passengers on High St. between Hauser's store (left) and Castle Inn. Trolleys ran between Stroudsburg and Portland. Note old-vintage autos and also long dresses women of that era wore.

Continental Partner

When we get away from the impact of the Nixon trip to Russia, which cannot be underestimated, we turn again to the numerous and complicated problems which the United States faces. And not the least important of these is Canada.

This country is not only our closest neighbor, but the two countries are now so entwined economically that it is impossible to ignore the differences that arise between them—all of which are economic.

Only one nation in all the world is larger than Canada and that is the Soviet Union. But Canada's population is small, in fact, as world states are measured today, Canada's population is very small, only about 18,000,000.

The natural resources of Canada are enormous and most of them are untapped. Geographically, Canada faces the Atlantic, the Pacific and the Arctic Oceans and the St. Lawrence Seaway cuts the distance to Europe.

Ultimately, Canada must become economically a tremendous force in the world because of its size, its resources and its population potential.

To the United States, Canada is important not only economically but militarily. Should the United States ever be forced to depend upon the Western Hemisphere for its minerals, Canada will become the center of American economic activity.

From a military standpoint, Canada is our first line of defense which explains why we have put so much effort into the Dew Line and the Mid-Canada Line—radar signal posts running from the Atlantic to the Pacific Oceans.

In any future war, it will be impossible for these countries to be independent of each other. They will have to join forces against a common enemy, even more solidly than in World War II.

It is not a matter of population but of geography that makes Canada and the United States one. The population of Canada is not unlike that of the United States, except for the large numbers of a distinct ethnic type, the French Canadian.

However, in the case of these two nations, it is not race or religion that matters as much as geography—no natural boundary separates these countries and but for the accidents of history, they might have been one nation.

In recent years, a number of controversies have arisen between Canada and the United States which develop from the fact that the United States buys from Canada 60 percent of its exports and sells to Canada 75 percent of its imports. A major subject of trade ports. In addition, the United States has developed and controls about 50 percent of Canada's productive capacity. These figures do not include the investment of Canadian money in the United States which is increasing. The Canadians fear that American investments in Canada will become so large that that country will become a mere appendage to the United States. On the other hand, the American government does not want Canada to become a tax haven, a run-away hide-out for American capital that is frightened by American taxes which are not only high but are collected by brutal means, leaving the taxpayer with decreased incentives.

This is undoubtedly the principal issue between the two countries. For instance, the Canadians prefer to have American capital invested in Canada but insist that that money follow Canadian rather than American policy.

This is an impossible condition because the American company must be held accountable in the United States for the conduct of all its subsidiaries, particularly when there is suspicion that one reason for exporting capital is to become free of restrictions.

This could involve such with Soviet Russia or with Red China. An American company could escape the rigidities of American policy by acting through a Canadian subsidiary. The Canadian government would not mind that; Washington does.

To most Americans, Canada is a vast, mostly barren hinterland. It is difficult for them to realize that Canada is one of the world's leading manufacturing nations today. About 30 percent of the national income is derived from manufacturing.

If Canada is to increase its manufactures, it will undoubtedly require more capital and more people. The capital can only come from the United States; the population most likely would come from Eastern and Southern Europe.

Increased American capital must mean increased control by Americans; increased population will ultimately change the Anglo-Saxon-French balance which has been so important in Canadian history.

Also that Jackie offered Billy a job as his accompanist at $250 a week which Billy doesn't need. In addition to the famous Dominoes, Billy now has a Hollywood recording and composing company and is plugging two of my "discoveries" from Japan: Yasuko Fujii (seen here at Max Loew's Viennese Lantern) and Mary Matsuyama. Hope this clears it up.

Inside Washington

Atomic Sub Still In Distant Future

Washington — The United States has spent 13 years and a billion dollars in trying to design an atomic airplane, and a flying model seems almost as far away as the beginning of the project.

Congressional sentiment has become increasingly critical. Whenever the subject comes up—in hearing rooms or social gatherings—the project is contrasted with the outstanding success experienced by the Navy in development of its atomic submarine and ship program.

Admittedly, the plane project is much more difficult because the weight factor greatly complicates the matter of shielding the pilot and passengers from radioactivity.

Recently, the joint congressional atomic energy committee, obviously fed up with administration inertia, conducted public hearings to get the program off dead center.

The Navy's blunt-

spoken research chief, Adm. John T. Heyward, said the plane project was "A pretty good monument to how not to run a technical program."

Committee members spoke bitterly about the expense and the innumerable delays, one charging that the program has been marked throughout by "drift and indecision." The room was filled with project officials, but none challenged the characterization.

Root of the problem appears to be a tug-of-war between two government factions over whether to move ahead rapidly to obtain a flying machine of doubtful value beyond experimentation, or to go slower and ultimately fly a machine which will be of sufficient advanced design to have military application.

It was obvious that congressional leaders in the atomic field want to "fly now, perfect later."

Souring On Castro — The spectacle of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro "resigning and then withdrawing his resignation has further soured the State department and a goodly segment of Congress on his leadership.

"It was an exercise in sheer demagoguery," one Latin American diplomat scornfully remarked. The feeling in Washington is that Castro went through with the act to obscure the mounting charges of Communist infiltration of his government. "He may have fooled the Cubans, but he didn't fool us," the same diplomat observed.

Meanwhile, Senate investigating committees are not through with their inquiry into alleged Communism in Castro's government. One senator has quietly flown to Miami, Fla., to continue secret hearings on the charge which was aired in Washington by a defected Castro lieutenant.

The Allen-Scott Report

More Travel Plans

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott
Washington — Premier Khrushchev has other ambitious travel plans in the Western Hemisphere.

Official invitations are being sought for him in Mexico, Brazil and Argentina. Also on the Kremlin czar's schedule is another trip to Red China possibly soon after President Eisenhower's exchange visit to Russia in October.

This has been definitely established from diplomatic and Iron Curtain sources. In the State Department this authoritative information is now considered the real reason for Khrushchev's insistence on coming to the U. S. around Sept. 15.

At first, his explanation of "other activities later in the month" was thought to refer to matters in Russia. But later detailed word from Latin American capitals, Geneva and Intelligence changed that view.

For example: Reports were received from Mexico City, Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires that invitations were being sought for Deputy Premier Mikoyan.

In making these overtures the Soviet envoys stated the purpose of Mikoyan's proposed tour was to discuss expanded trade, cultural relations—and a possible visit by Khrushchev. This was a familiar pattern. Early this year Mikoyan toured the U. S. followed by Deputy Premier Kozlov. Both repeatedly exchanged an exchange of visits by the President and Khrushchev.

While Vice President Nixon was in Poland, he got an unmistakable intimation that Khrushchev is again going to Red China after exchanging visits with President Eisenhower.

This information was confirmed. It was also indicated to Nixon that Peiping disapproved of those trips.

firmly by similar reports from the East-West foreign ministers conference in Geneva and Iron Curtain sources.

No Capitol Bid — President Eisenhower personally related this background to Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson a few hours after announcing the exchange of visits with Khrushchev.

The two Texans were summoned to the White House expressly to discuss this matter. The President didn't talk it over with the GOP leaders until the next day.

"I have one important question to ask," Rayburn told the President. "When is Khrushchev to be in Washington?"

"He notified us just yesterday that he would like to come around September 12," replied the President. "He said he had 'other activities' later in that month. We now have good reason to believe they are actually more travel plans."

"The reason I asked that question," said Rayburn, "is because I am against inviting him to address a joint session of Congress. I am firmly opposed to that, as I believe you know."

"Yes, I am aware of it," said the President. "You told me how you felt about that some time ago."

"I haven't changed my mind one iota," asserted Rayburn. "I feel just as strongly about it now as then. I will not be a party to inviting him to address Congress. That's why I would suggest he not be asked to come to Washington while Congress is still in session."

The President inquired about adjournment prospects.

"Right now," spoke up Senator Johnson. "I don't think we can get through before the second week of September. The civil rights bill and other important measures still have to be acted on, and I don't see how we can wind up until after Labor Day."

Rayburn agreed with Johnson.

"I had hoped we would be able to finish by August 22," said Speaker. "But I've abandoned that now. We might have done without the civil rights issue, but that alone will take at least three weeks in the Senate. So adjournment this month is virtually out."

"Well, I trust Congress will have quit by the time Khrushchev gets here," said the President.

"Whether we have or not, he won't be asked to address us," said Rayburn firmly.

"That's wholly up to you people," laughed the President.

Labor Delay — Inside reason the House Rules Committee took its time in reporting out the labor reform bill was an urgent AFL-CIO request for a few more days to lobby for votes for its measure.

Democratic Floor Leader John McCormack, Mass., arranged this with two pro-labor members of the Rules Committee.

Representatives Thomas O'Neill (D., Mass.) and Ray Madden (D., Ill.) agreed to hearings to give the AFL-CIO extra time to seek support for its so-called "pro-labor" bill.

As a result, instead of the legislation being considered this week, it went over a week—but with the odds still favoring approval of the tougher Landrum-Griffin measure.

Very Delicate Point

Dear Abby: Please settle a family argument once and for all: My husband has six married brothers and two married sisters. On different occasions we wives have to introduce one another to friends. I know that my husband's sisters are my sisters-in-law, and my husband's brothers are my brothers-in-law. But what about the women who are married to my husband's brothers? And the men who are married to my husband's sisters. What are they to me and how should they be introduced?

EVELYN.

Dear Evelyn: Technically, only your husband's sisters are your sisters-in-law and the wives of your husband's brothers are your husband's sisters-in-law. But people who point out this fine distinction in making introductions, appear eager to remove the relationship as far away as possible. The wise wife accepts her husband's sisters-in-law as her own.

Dear Abby: I hope you won't think this question is too stupid to answer. I am a married man of 33 with black hair, brown eyes and dark complexion. My wife is 31 and she also has black hair, brown eyes and dark complexion. Our youngest child has blond hair, blue eyes and a fair complexion. The child is three years old. Is it too late to find out through a blood test whether this child is mine or not? Or does the blood test have to be taken when the child is an infant?

IN DOUBT.

Dear In: A blood test can be taken any time with equal success. The blood type of an individual never changes.

Dear Abby: My husband sells soft drinks at the Arena where they put on boxing and wrestling matches. He used to come right home from work. But lately he's been coming home at 3 and 4 in the morning. He told me that he's been driving a lady wrestler home and she invites him in for "coffee and" I told him I didn't think this was right. He said I didn't have to worry. What do you say?

SLIGHTLY JEALOUS.

Dear Slightly: Don't worry about the coffee. It's the "and" that could give you the trouble. Get a full Nelson on your marriage and insist that your husband come directly home from work.

Dear Abby: In reply to "Convention Widower" who complained because his wife was a "convention hound":

Dear Abby: I have a question. My husband has six married brothers and two married sisters. On different occasions we wives have to introduce one another to friends. I know that my husband's sisters are my sisters-in-law, and my husband's brothers are my brothers-in-law. But what about the women who are married to my husband's brothers? And the men who are married to my husband's sisters. What are they to me and how should they be introduced?

EVELYN.

If a woman had a husband who made her feel as though she had an alert mind and gave her a few words of praise for jobs well done, there wouldn't be so many women looking for conventions.

Conventions are loaded with women who have a common problem—the desire to be needed, recognized and applauded.

I ought to know because I am one of those women. But I would gladly leave the conventions alone if only my husband would satisfy that need in me. Sincerely yours,

"ANOTHER CONVENTION HOUND."

Skits Recall Early Days Of Cottage Owners Assn.

BARRETT—Buck Hill Falls lot and cottage owners turned back the historic clock 50 years last night to celebrate the initial meeting of the Lot and Cottage Assn. held in the Fall of 1909.

Over a thousand people witnessed the re-enactment of the Association's first meeting as cottagers donned the attire of the day and sang hit tunes of the original Quaker community. The history of the Lot and Cottage Assn. is eight years younger than that of the Buck Hill Falls Inn itself. Charles F. Jenkins, first president of the Buck Hill Falls Co., settled the area along with a group of other Philadelphians in 1901.

Lots were sold at that time to stockholders of the company at $100 apiece. The size of each lot varied from 12,000 to 20,000 square feet.

By August of 1901, 32 lots were sold, and by this time two years later there were 74 owners of lots or cottages.

The community grew rapidly until in 1908 directors of the company expressed their desire to be relieved of some of the responsibility of local government.

"It was unanimously agreed that they (lot and cottage owners) be requested to appoint committees from among the lot owners to look after such features of the work at Buck Hill as in their judgment is desirable." So read the minutes of the company.

In accord with this wish, a meeting of the lot and cottage holders was held Nov. 4, 1908 in the East Room of the Inn. Albert W. Preston, Lambertville, N.J., acted as chairman with Susan L. Pemberton, Philadelphia, secretary.

A permanent organization of cottagers was discussed but no official action was taken at that date. It is written of this meeting that "many were of the opinion that such an organization, working in harmony with the board, is desirable as giving the cottage owners an opportunity for the exchange of their views and the expression of their wishes on local affairs."

The association's first resolution was passed at the time. It was required that a fire extinguisher be installed in every cottage not then having one and a bill be sent to each cottage owner.

The first annual meeting of the association was held Sept. 2, 1910, the organization of committees having been set up the previous year.

Officers for the first few years remained the same with Dr. Walter Mendelson, president; David H. Ross, first vice-president; Emma Speakman Webster, second vice-president; Harriette S. Webb, secretary, and Alfred J. Major, treasurer.

Heading the various committees were David H. Ross, fire protection; Dr. Walter Webb, sanitation; Horace C. Jones, roads; Dr. Walter Mendelson, forestry and paths; Alfred J. Major, golf links; E. Clarkson Wilson, tennis; Robert H. Montgomery, bowling; Spencer L. Jones, swimming pool; Walter B. Day, entertainment at the Inn.

In addition there were committees for Fourth of July and Labor Day activities, evening singing, library and employee.

The major problem according to minutes from this meeting was fire protection. To provide an adequate water system a reservoir was proposed in the 1912 meeting with the understanding that the association assume two-thirds of the cost. Here started a permanent part of the association's program: to provide part of the cost of community expenses for improvements.

Also recorded in the minutes of the association's first years was the Barrett Township mid-summer festival in which members of the community were active.

Fifty years later, last night, heads of committees, dressed in the costumes appropriate for a Quaker community and the early 1910's, reported again on their activities. Mrs. Edward M. Banks and Rodney Day sang reports while committee leaders performed and displayed their attire.

A barber shop quartet composed of Charles S. Biggs Jr., J. Theodore Wolfe, Layton H. James and Robert Kelly, introduced the audience to this year's executive board, James H. O'Haway, president; Henry B. Kennedy, vice-president; John R. Tappan, treasurer; Mrs. J. Theodore Wolfe, secretary; Russell C. Cooney and Russell W. Jackson, board members.

Direction of the entire show was under Mrs. Clifford R. Gilliam and script by Mrs. Joseph McElowney. Larry James accompanied with piano during the show.

Chest Drive Publicity Head Named

ALFRED W. MUNSON has been named public relations chairman for the Community Chest campaign for 12 member agency to be held during the month of October.

E. Holt Wyckoff, 1960 fund campaign chairman, announced the appointment at a breakfast meeting with representatives of press and radio yesterday morning.

Munson, who is principal of Stroud Union High School, will meet with other members of the campaign meeting at their bi-weekly session at noon next Tuesday at Wyckoff's tea room.

Attending yesterday's meeting in addition to Wyckoff and Munson were Horace G. Heller, general manager, and Bobby Westbrook, of The Daily Record and Chester S. Miller, general manager, and Joseph Whalen, of WVPO.

Reason Cited For Removal Of Trains

PERRY M. Shoemaker, president of the Lackawanna Railroad, has informed the East Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn. that declining passenger traffic on two trains is the reason the railroad requested the Interstate Commerce Commission to discontinue both trains.

The association had written to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and also to the ICC asking for a hearing before the requested dropping approval is given the railroad. The unit had sent a copy of the letter to the railroad.

The replies to the letters were read to the group at its meeting Thursday night at the East Stroudsburg Borough Council chambers by the association Secretary, Albert Koster.

Average of 12 Daily
Shoemaker's letter said that while the railroad understood the association's position in the matter, the railroad was carrying an average of only about 12 persons per day for the East Stroudsburg destination, and one-half of this total traffic was carried on Friday. These figures are based on a May survey.

Shoemaker's letter also cited the fact that both the Greyhound and Martz Bus lines had reported decreased passenger service on their eastbound buses.

The letter from the PUC merely stated that the matter had been turned over to the ICC for further action since it was under the ICC jurisdiction.

Hearings Set
The ICC order showed that since there was sufficient interest in maintaining the service of the trains, a hearing would be held in the U.S. Courthouse, Newark, N.J., Aug. 26, at 9:30 a.m. and continued at Scranton on Aug. 28.

In other business during the association's meeting, it was announced that the Christmas lighting committee will meet Thursday, Aug. 13, for the purpose of discussing the future plans for the decoration of the community.

Army's Chief Signal Officer Here For Dedication Of Chapel At Depot

TOBYHANNA—Chief Signal Officer of the Army Maj. Gen. Ralph T. Nelson and Mrs. Nelson will be guests of honor when the new chapel for all faiths at the Tobyhanna Signal Depot is dedicated tomorrow morning.

The arrival of Gen. Nelson will make the first visit to the depot by the U. S. Army chief signal officer.

A reception and buffet supper for him and Mrs. Nelson will be held in the depot cafeteria tonight. All officers and civilian chiefs of the various offices and divisions have been invited to attend.

Other honored guests will be Maj. Gen. Herbert L. Scofield and Mrs. Scofield. General Scofield is chief of the Procurement and Distribution Division, Office of the Chief Signal Officer, Washington, D. C.

Tomorrow at 9:30 a. m., Depot Commander Col. Clifford A. Poutre will snip the ribbon and present a plaque, dedicating the new chapel.

On hand for the ceremony will be Army chaplains of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths.

Depot Chaplain (Capt.) Francis P. Patterson will represent the Protestant faith; Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Richard F. Grady (USAR), of the University of Scranton, the Catholic faith, and Chaplain (Capt.) Simon H. Shoop, of Temple Israel, Scranton, the Hebrew faith.

Chaplain (Col.) Harold F. Donovan, of Second Army Headquarters, Fort Meade, Md., will be the personal representative at the ceremony of Maj. Gen. Frank A. Tobey, Army chief of chaplains.

The Tobyhanna Signal Depot chapel was fashioned out of an old barracks building on the post. When Capt. Patterson arrived for duty as the depot's first chaplain last October, services were held in a room that served alternately as classroom, movie theater and meeting hall.

With the help of the post engineer, a building was selected, remodeled and furnished.

With a few rearrangements, the chapel can be used for services of all faiths.

Car Crashes As Driver Flees Police

A HEARING before Justice of the Peace Jack Wyckoff for a Stroudsburg driver who attempted to escape from police early yesterday morning has been postponed until further notice.

East Stroudsburg Police reported yesterday Carl Robert Dickison, 1140 Greenway Ave., demolished his auto while trying to elude them in a fast chase through East Stroudsburg streets.

Police alleged Dickison fled after his car struck a parked car on N. Courtland St. at 2:45 a.m. yesterday, and drove up King St. toward Gravel Place. His car ran into trees and underbrush at the Stokes Mill Road-King St. intersection, the report showed.

Three charges will be heard during the hearing, the report said: Reckless driving, driving too fast for conditions, and leaving the scene of an accident.

Dickison told police he tried to flee because he was "scared."

State Awards Contracts To Surface Road

HA'—BURG (AP)—Contracts for two road projects in Northampton County were awarded Friday.

The total cost is $160,286. They are:

U. S. 611 in Wind Gap and from near Centerville to north of Mount Bethel, 3.31 miles, blacktop surface, Herbert R. Imbt Inc., State College, $81,184.

U. S. Route 611, from a point in Portland northerly, 2.72 miles, blacktop surface, Imbt, $79,102.

The department also received these unofficial low bids for this road construction project:

Northampton — Easton Ave., in Bethlehem and Butztown, 0.81 mile, J. H. Beers, Inc., Bangor, RD 2, $123,096.

Bogus Bills Reported In Circulation

LOCAL MERCHANTS yesterday were warned to be on the alert for counterfeit $20 and $100 bills.

John B. Tretheway, Stroudsburg police chief, said none of the bills have been reported here, but several have appeared in the Scranton area.

The $20 bills bear serial number E2484047G, while the $100 bills carry numbers with K and L prefixes.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

A good magician will never give away the secrets of his trade, but this particular journalistic secret is too good to keep. On assignment, Mac and I were sent to the river to get an interview about Geneva from my brother-in-law.

Well, one of the requirements of Joe Wheeler's job for the past two years has been to get along with people, and the easiest way to get along with a sister-in-law is to give in gracefully, even if talking about Geneva might be the last thing you want to do in the first flush of reunion.

Mac, on the other hand, is a photographer with an imagination and in order to convey the sense of peace along the river I thought a glass of ice tea would add to the setting. The trouble was that the only ice available was chunks from the defrosting that was going on at the moment, and there was no tea. However, water, darkened with a little tomato ketchup, looked tea-ish and a few stray weeds looked like mint sticking out the top.

Joe, knowing nothing about these preliminaries, sat where he was told and took the glass he was handed. It did look cool and refreshing so he took a swallow. What followed was not exactly keyed to the peaceful setting.

A healthy swallow of sludge ice, catchup, water and weeds might convince any traveler that American taste in beverages has degenerated. After that he could probably tackle even yak butter in Tibet.

CRUSTY FRIED CHICKEN
Ingredients: 1 broiler-fryer (2 to 2½ pounds ready-to-cook weight), 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon paprika, ½ cup packaged cornflake crumbs.

Method: Have chicken cut so there are 10 pieces: reserve gizzards, neck and wing tips for broth another time. Wash and drain in colander. Melt butter over low heat; remove from heat and stir in salt, pepper and paprika. Dip chicken pieces, one at a time, in seasoned butter and then in crumbs; spoon crumbs over chicken to coat well. Place in shallow foil-lined baking pan; a 15 by 10 by one inch jelly-roll pan is fine. Bake, uncovered, in moderate (350 degrees) oven until tender when tested with a fork — 1 hour. Makes 4 servings.

Education For Marriage Course To Be Offered To Engaged, Newly-Marrieds

An "Education for Marriage Course" will be given in October for engaged and newly-married couples. The program is being sponsored by the Monroe County Ministerium, the Young Men's Christian Assn., and Monroe County Planned Parenthood Assn. The course will consist of four or five sessions on the spiritual, financial, physical and emotional aspects of marriage and will be held on each Thursday night during the month of October from 7:30 until 9:30 p. m., beginning on October 1.

Each session will have a capable leader who is an expert in his field and will allow time for open discussion. A charge of $3.00 a couple will be made to help defray the expense of the program.

The following subjects will be discussed: "Spiritual Values in Marriage" led by a minister with discussion on religion in the home, the family and their church and religious attitudes towards sex; "Money Management", led by a home economist with discussion on goals and values of individual couples, management of the family's money with sources of information and assistance being given.

"Sexual Harmony in Marriage" led by a physician and instructor; and "Interpersonal Relations" led by a psychiatrist, with discussion on marriage as a process of growth, common misunderstandings and conflicts and the approaches to solving them.

It is the aim of the program to give accurate information to the engaged or newly married couple through a frank and open discussion in a group setting. The leaders will encourage good attitudes, open-mindedness, free communication and selflessness between husband and wife.

Have Special Skill? Then Teach It To Others

By Anne Heywood

If you know how to do anything—from playing bridge to upholstering chairs to dancing to speaking Spanish—chances are you can pick up a little extra money by teaching it. But if you decide to do this, you must go about it carefully or you can easily fail.

Few Customers
First of all, you probably won't get many individual customers, unless your reputation is great or your skill most unusual. When people want private instruction, they usually want somebody who is well known. The beginner or little-known person can't hope to get this kind of student.

Second, you'll have to realize that, almost as much as they want to learn the specific skill, people also want to be relieved of some of their loneliness.

One of the best bridge teachers I know told me: "People come to me partly to learn bridge but mostly to meet other people. I provide the framework in which they can meet others without admitting that they're lonely."

Group Instruction
Therefore, on both counts, the best way to begin is with group instruction.

I know a woman who teaches ceramic-making. She has a kiln and a small but decent workshop. She takes people in groups of 6 and charges $1 each for a two-hour lesson. This

Art Center Study For Five Women's Clubs

Barrett — Presidents and art chairmen of the five clubs in the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs will meet at the home of Mrs. John Wolfe, Tannersville, Tuesday, August 11, at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Marcia DeRocco, guest of the evening, will tell of present and future plans for the Pocono Art Center.

Mrs. Steven Moffett Jr., will discuss the recent meeting of county presidents held at Kingsley.

St. Mary's Guild Picnic Tuesday

The members of St. Mary's Guild, Christ Episcopal Church, will have a picnic at the summer home of Margaret and Rose Nills, along the Delaware River near Dingmans Ferry, on Tuesday at one o'clock. Members are asked to bring a covered dish and the hostesses will furnish the dessert, coffee and table service.

Auction To Benefit Barrett YMCA On Friday

Mountainhome — The second annual benefit auction sale of the Barrett Branch YMCA will take place this year on Friday, August 14, at 7:30 p. m., at the Barrett Y. Wayne Posten will again be the auctioneer.

All items except clothing will be acceptable. This list includes: small electrical appliances, radios, and TV's, furniture (lawn and house), lamps and glassware, records and books, dishes and silverware, farm implements, new and used tools, toys and bicycles, pots and pans, sports equipment, antiques, and "surprise" packages pre-wrapped.

Anyone unable to bring your items to the Y, may call LY 5-2730, and arrangements will be made to have the items picked up sometime before the auction.

Hot dogs and coffee will also be sold.

Fellowship Outing At Meixell's

Delaware Water Gap — The riverside cabin, near Shawnee, of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Meixell was the scene, last week, of a merry party held by the Methodist Youth Fellowship, when swimming and a hot dog roast were features of the day.

Present were Rev. and Mrs. Carl Simms and young son, Misses Linda Ott, Bonnie Edsel, Darleen Ott, Linda Widdoss, Kathy Meixell, and Mr. John Siproth, also the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Meixell.

Friday of this week the young people expect to have another all day party at the Meixell cabin when a much larger attendance is expected as young folks are getting home from vacation.

Consistory Sponsoring Auction Sale

Tannersville—Thursday, August 13 will be the date of an auction sale sponsored by the Consistory of Grace United Church of Christ, Tannersville. The auction will be held at 7 p. m. at the parsonage opposite the POS of A Hall, on the Old Lackawanna Trail in Lower Tannersville.

Members and friends have contributed an assortment of furniture, dishes, tools, pictures, books, dishes, antiques. All items will be auctioned off by Joseph Stanner, auctioneer.

The Women's Guild of the church will have a table of homemade baked goods for sale in connection with the auction.

Monroe Republican Women Host To State President At Picnic Meeting Here

Mrs. Mitchell MacCartney, president of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women will be the main speaker at the last picnic supper of the summer for the Monroe Council on Wednesday night at 6 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. "Phyz" Nauman in Anolomink.

Mrs. MacCartney is a graduate of Altoona public schools and of Kellogg School of Physical Education, Battle Creek, Mich. She taught health and physical education at Roosevelt Junior High School in Altoona and coached basketball, field hockey and track at Highland Hall School for Girls.

Her public activities include the Federated Woman's Club activities including presidency of the Blair County Federation and welfare chairman of the state federation; the Altoona Girl Scout Council and the YMCA, the Child Welfare League, the Salvation Army Aux. and the First Presbyterian Church.

She has also served in many capacities in political activities in her county and in the state.

The meeting is open to the public and will be held rain or shine. Senator William Z. Scott plans to attend if the legislature is not in session. The county chairmen, committee members and candidates are also invited.

The Nauman home is on Route 90 above Penn Hills Lodge. Members are asked to bring a covered dish, table service and a card table. Meat, beverage, and rolls will be furnished by the council. Passes are Mrs. T. E. Terrill, Mrs. Alexander Koornhoff, Mrs. Carl Lilius and Miss Pearl Sculley.

My PTA Sets Theme For Year

"Enriching A Child's World" will be the program theme for Morey School PTA next year. Throughout the year the programs will endeavor to familiarize the parents with the scope of activities available in the community to elementary school children . . . and to heighten awareness in the parents of their responsibility to expose their children to these advantages.

The series will include programs on Art, Drama, Music, Languages, Dance and Sports.

September 14 is the date of the first meeting.

Program Committee co-chairmen are Mrs. Clyde Burke and Mrs. Joseph J. McCluskey.

Shupp-Hilliard Wedding

Friends are invited to attend the wedding of Miss Carol Hilliard of Reeder to Glenn Shupp of Effort tonight at 8 at the Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

No invitations have been sent but all relatives and friends are invited.

Neola 4-H Has Meeting

Neola — The Neola 4-H Club held its meeting on August 5 with ten members present.

The meeting was opened with the pledge and roll call. Following that the treasurers report was read.

After the meeting the girls worked on their skirts and dresses.

Visits Baltimore

Mrs. Mary Price, of 1085 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, is spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. George Scheffer, of Baltimore, Md. She was accompanied there by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Price, and daughter, Judy, of Bartonville, who returned home after a weekend visit.

Lady Reindeer

The Lady Reindeer will meet Monday night at the Odd Fellows Hall at 8 p.m.

Children Star In Workshop Production

The first production of the Theater Workshop of the Pocono Mountains Art Center will be presented on two nights, Sunday and Wednesday, at 8 p. m. at the Indian Queen Hotel.

The play to be given by the children is a farce-satire, "Don't Feed the Animals" by Bob Wellington. Members of the cast include Don Susich, Jim Williams, Libby Hartman, Grace Butz, Candy Kohn, Robyn Roth, Pat Diehl, Rickie Fuller and Ruth Anderson.

Tickets may be obtained at the door or in advance in the lobby of the Indian Queen Hotel or at Donald's Shoe Store, 551 Main St., Stroudsburg.

Why Not Let Children Blow Bubbles?

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

Little children love to play in water. Mothers of little children usually object to this kind of play for the very practical reason that it is messy and requires a lot of cleaning up. Also there is always the question of the child becoming chilled.

These are valid objections and yet water play has a lot of real value for the pre-school child.

The boisterous, aggressive child often quiets down when he is allowed free rein with a tub of water. Also the timid youngster seems often to gain a new freedom when he is splashing sudsy water about.

Every mother knows how much children enjoy their baths. It is certainly not the getting clean that entrances them, it is some quality in the water itself as it drips from a sponge, pours from one vessel to another, foams up with soap, trickles down the arms, that fascinates children.

Bubble Fun
With some planning, it is not impossible to give youngsters the joy of playing in water. Try it and you may find you have a happier more cooperative youngster on your hands.

Tricia was 3. One warm summer day she was especially difficult. She pulled books out of the bookcase, dumped an ashtray carefully on to the pages of a book, turned a few more pages and smeared more ashes on the stiff pages. She clamped the book down on her finger and began to cry. The cries brought mother who wasn't exactly pleased by the mess she saw. Then followed scoldings, tantrums and fuss. Finally mother pulled herself together and said:

"Tricia, how would you like to blow some bubbles?"

The little girl jumped up, her face beaming: "Bubbles, bubbles, bubbles!" she sang.

Smart Mother
Mother started toward the kitchen, Tricia jumping along behind. They got down a pitcher, filled it with warm water; added some soap flakes. Tricia took her little cup and the straw mother handed her. Together they went to the porch, where Tricia expectantly slipped into a chair at her small table. Mother poured the sudsy water into her cup, Tricia put her nose down into the cup, beamed up at her mother, then she swished her hands around in the cup, spilling water on the table, she smeared the water around the table top, humming to herself as she did it.

Finally she blew through the straw and the soapy water foamed up. She grabbed handfuls of it, squeezed them between her fingers and blew them into the air, a happy smile played over her face and she sang softly, then louder, and then softly again, "sudsy bubbles—bubbles—I make bubbles." There wasn't any doubt about her joy with this play.

Happy Child
Of course she got wet, but it was warm and she didn't have anything on but a sunsuit and shoes. The shoes got wet, too, and Mother came along and took them off. Now Tricia patted some bubbles on her little pink feet and howled with glee as she wiggled her toes.

Mother looks at her radiant little daughter and thought to herself—Why didn't I ever think of this before? It's a lot less mess than those ashrays.

THERESA ANNE GRIFFIN, who celebrated her second birthday with a trip to the zoo, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin, of 824 Monroe St., Stroudsburg.

Miss Riday To Be Bride On Sunday

The wedding of Joyce E. Riday and Pfc. Samuel C. Schneider of El Paso, Texas, will take place Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Cherry Valley Methodist Church.

Friends and relatives are all invited to attend the ceremony which will be officiated by Rev. C. Clyde Levergood.

The service will be followed by a reception in the basement of the church.

Lambert Family Has Reunion At Playground

The Lambert Family reunion was held at the East Stroudsburg Playground on Sunday with 125 members present.

Prizes were awarded to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Friend Akers of Delaware Water Gap, the longest married; Mrs. Sadie Decker, East Stroudsburg, largest family; Edward Lambert, 86, Delaware Water Gap, 86; Myrtle Williams, Slateford, oldest woman, 85; Martha S., and Mark DeWitt, twins of Bushkill, youngest, five months. Mildred McMillan of Los Angeles, came the farthest.

Other prizes were awarded and games were played after the picnic dinner.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"the friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

Life is full of questions . . . and provocative answers. On television we see the Lady Clair commercial, and hear the mysteriously voiced query, "Does she—or doesn't she?"—meaning "color her hair." The nearest one can come to an accurate answer, as any woman who uses Clairor knows, is "maybe." After the last few days at Wyckoff's, another question comes to mind . . . "Did he—or didn't he?"—meaning "invest in a genuine diamond." And once again, the nearest one can come to the truth, unless professional advice is summoned, is "Perhaps."

I refer, of course, to our fabulous sale of breathtaking zircons. Some at 2.50 appear to be what they are . . . zircons or reasonable facsimiles thereof. But look again at those retailing for 19.98! Emerald cut, and mounted high in a setting that looks ever so much like platinum, they are stunning. And I would wager that the average girl would never know the difference. Diamonds may be a girl's best friend—but the great majority of women would settle for these and never know the difference, unless a pawn broker would someday enlighten them.

The collection of rings, which completely fills ten feet of our jewelry counter with glitter and sparkle, is truly exciting. There are cocktail styles set with shiny black ovals of onyx . . . lacy Princess-settings holding dozens of glistening diamond-like stones . . . dome-type rings with minuscule gems nestle in the very center of deeply carved stars, and other rings combining onyx and synthetic diamonds in a graceful swirled design. One adorable solitaire, with matching wedding band, looks like a couple of hundred dollars and costs approximately fifteen.

There are rings for the men too . . . all kinds, and some are handsome. But in every case the prices are so low you find yourself asking the salespeople to repeat, for you can't imagine that you have heard correctly.

The thousands of rings were accompanied here by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Nazzo, who are as charming to meet as their jewelry is lovely to see. Mrs. Nazzo is friendly and attractive, and invariably surprises customers by admitting that the very lovely ring she has been wearing some 26 months is actually one of the cluster zircons such as we are offering Wyckoff shoppers at below-budget price. She wears the ring to test the setting and see how well it will hold up. It has been holding up beautifully . . . thanks to the fact that no plating is involved. The white settings are protective, durable rhodium over sterling silver . . . the yellow are gold filled, meaning that every bit of the ring is thoroughly impregnated with the gold. The gold cannot wear off because it isn't ON the ring, it IS IN it.

Come in and greet the Nazzos and see their shimmering display right up until 5:30 this evening. There is no obligation to buy. But IF you are a young fellow on a very limited budget with marriage in mind; IF you are a housewife who has always been vaguely dissatisfied with a solitaire too small to be seen; IF you are shopping for an inexpensive gift that looks like a million, for an anniversary or special occasion; or IF you are a woman who just can't resist jewelry, you WILL buy. That I wager—and your eyes will shine as brightly from the thrill of your purchase, as the stone itself will shine in your ring!

By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

According to the scuttlebutt, the Pocono Mountains area will have its own Little League playoffs either next year or in 1961. Reason behind these well-founded rumors is that area Little Leagues are more than dissatisfied with the runnings of the Pennsylvania Little League playoffs.

Long treks to play the opposition, and officiating are two of the beefs of leagues who were represented in state runoffs the past two years.

An authoritative source said the "new" playoff idea will embrace teams in the Pocono North, Pocono South, Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, Slate Belt, Bangor and Pen Argyl circuits.

No official meeting has been held as yet although feelers have been sent out to different areas for their thoughts on the proposed project.

One of the big aims of the now small group is to hold the playoffs after each circuit has completed its regular season. This move is to put back in each league the emphasis of the championship race in their loop and not have it sidetracked by State playoffs.

Another feeling is that the proposed area playoffs will draw much better and enrich each loop's treasury much more than the Keystone state-wide championship race, whereby most of the cash collected went thataway instead of thisway.

Maybe the powers-to-be in this proposal have thought of this but we would like to see the champions of each loop come to grips, instead of a picked all-star team. This way there could be little argument on who is the best when the winning team is given the honor. Also it would be an added incentive to the teams during the regular season pennant race to fight for right to represent their league.

We imagine it will be quite hard to get all area loops to agree to such a proposal. In all probability it would mean severance from Little League, Inc. However, we wouldn't shed any tears over this because we feel the project once started for boys has now become a bonanza for men—such as high salaried personnel and other extravaganzas that tend only to exploit unknowing youngsters.

Perhaps it officials of the different circuits within the Pocono Mountain realm sat down and looked over the situation a reasonable answer will come out. After all, there is only one big question—What are our boys gaining by affiliation with Little League, Inc.? It should be simple to see little or nothing.

The Pocono Mountains wants to be known. Well here is a good chance to show the surrounding territories the feasibility of one's "own" tournament.

Like we pressed before for a high school circuit ending the Slate Belt and this territory and later Pocono Mountain and West End jointures we believe this L.L. plan will hasten a move in that direction.

We are strong enough here to stand on our own feet and not let the outside decide what is right for us. In 10 years these mountains of ours will look smaller with the expected added population. We ought to be ready to meet any challenges and especially those on the sports scene.

We are all for pin-pointing our area and it looks like others think in the same vein. Let's not wait until '61 to make the idea a reality. Let's have the Pocono Mountain-Slate Belt Little League playoffs next year.

Dyson Wins; Ruehlman Stars At Bat

CRESCO — Pocono South, behind the three-hit pitching of Waldo Dyson, defeated Pocono North in a Little League All-Stars exhibition game here last night.

Dave Ruehlman guided the South's attack with three hits. He was aided at the bat by George Rinker's pair of safeties.

One of Ruehlman's blows was a homer.

Dyson also helped his own cause with two singles.

Wet Track May 'Stop' Round Table

CHICAGO (AP) — Round Table, working on his second million dollars as turfdom's greatest money-maker, will run in Saturday's $50,000 added Equipoise Mile if Arlington Park's strip dries out.

Fair weather is predicted, but the track was sloppy Friday, a factor which lured a big field of 17 into the Equipoise for 3-year-olds and up. Top challengers appear to be On-and-On and Better Bee.

Travis Kerr's superb 5-year-old, with earnings of $1,452,369, won't run if the track is slippery. He will if the track is even only slow because he needs a race badly.

For that reason, Round Table is a modest overnight favorite of 7-5, instead of a 2 or 3 to 1 choice he would be if the track was fast.

Round Table last started July 4 in the Stars and Stripes Handicap, which he won under 132 pounds, the same he will carry Saturday.

Round Table — spots another doubtful starter, Calumet Farm's Bardstown, 14 pounds. Carrying third high weight and a good foot race runner is William S. Miller's Better Bee, in at 115. John Choquette will ride Better Bee.

However, the second betting choice is Calumet's On-and-On (110) the only 3-year-old in the field with Steve Brooks probably in the irons.

Another contender will be Tera Firma. The field also includes Tuck Era, Racetracker, Ebony Pearl, Hare Raising, Bernberg, Pete's Folly, Etionian, Belleau Chief, Charlie's Song, Alarullah, Ballyrullah and Benedicto.

Musial Homer Trips Phillies

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial cracked a home run with a teammate on base in the ninth inning Friday night to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Ford And Duren Blank Athletics

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitey Ford, with the help of Ryne Duren, registered his first victory Friday night since July 19 as the New York Yankees shut out the Kansas City Athletics 3-0 to scramble back into the first division.

Hank Bauer, Yogi Berra and Elston Howard drove in the runs, the first two by way of home runs. Bud Daley, left-handed knuckleballer, was charged with the defeat.

Bisbing Hurls No-Hitter As Vets Swamp Stout's, 23-1

GLENN BISBING hurled no-hit ball last night as the Veterans of Foreign Wars walloped Stout's Glass, 23-1 in a Stroudsburg Little League game which was halted after five innings because of darkness.

Bisbing and Bobby Baird led a 15-hit attack on losing pitcher Dick Dishman and his successor Wright. Bisbing clobbered two homers and a single, while Baird smacked out four singles. Johnny Muller also aided the winners with a double and a one-bagger. Bisbing drove in six runs and Muller four.

Nebel's Tops Tobyhanna, 8-1, In MSL

JOHN HECKMAN, staked to a 6-0 lead in the second inning, pitched a one-hitter as Nebel's Market beat Tobyhanna 8-1 in a Monroe Softball League game at the Stroudsburg playground last night.

The victory was the 13th in 17 games for Nebel's who are now only percentage points behind league-leading Tobyhanna.

Outboard Race

SEATTLE (AP) — Eight outboard motorboats jumped off at Ketchikan, Alaska, yesterday in a 723-mile ocean race down the North American continent's west coast to Seattle. The four-day dash is limited to stock put-out, at least 15 feet long and 20-mile per hour fast. Every one will be hustled along by two engines, not one of which generates less than 35 horsepower. The boats will make 85-mile runs each day, with luncheon stops and overnight halts.

Videomen Put State Title On Line Today

TWIN CITY TV opens defense of its Keystone Amateur Softball Association state championship here today as 10 star-studded teams from all parts of Pennsylvania moved into action.

The Videomen drew a bye in yesterday's opening round but will play three games today and probably two or three tomorrow.

The tournament is a double-elimination event with a team needing two setbacks before it is ousted.

Twin City left for Altoona yesterday. Included in the group were 15 players, two managers and sponsor Ernie Fellechner.

Those who made the trip to the west-central state city were Dick Pennington, Jim Ungorsky, Tom Janson, Tony Stalcene, Joe Drach, Bill Lester, Dick Posten, Harold Strunk, Ernie Gromick, Gene Cioffi, Harold Freeman, Candy Miller, John Bruckner, Stan Thorz, manager Ray Davies, and coach Pete Casella.

The team will return home late Sunday night.

Lil' Lakers Grab West End LL Tilt

SAYLORSBURG — Saylors Lake gained a firmer grip on second place in the West End Little League last night, subduing Broadheadville, 14-11.

Shaffer's two triples and a double powered a 12-hit Laker attack. Behler shared hitting honors with Shaffer, getting three of the losers' 12 safeties.

White Sox Win Behind Shaw

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Goodman's three run-producing singles and Bob Shaw's eight-hit pitching added up Friday night to a 4-1 Chicago victory over Washington.

It was the 20th defeat in their last 21 games for the last place Senators, but the 7,702 fans who saw the loss swelled Washington's home attendance to 480,124. The Senators drew only 475,288 all last season.

Retains Title

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — British Empire welterweight Champion George Barnes Friday retained his title, defeating Billy Todd on points over 15 rounds.

Ill Net Queen Forced To Quit

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. (AP) — Maria Bueno, the Wimbledon queen from Brazil, collapsed of "physical exhaustion" Friday and defaulted after losing the first set, 6-4, to Delmar Cunderson in the quarter-finals of the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships.

The 19-year-old Miss Bueno later was pronounced "all right" but ordered to rest a few days.

Miss Bueno's illness overshadowed the men's results as U. S. Davis Cuppers Alex Olmedo and Earl Buchholz, rolled into Saturday's semifinals along with ex-U. S. cupper Mike Green, who scored his second straight upset victory.

Ortega Victor

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifth ranking welterweight challenger Gaspar Ortega of Mexicala, Mex., won a split decision over Benny "Kid" Paret of Santa Clara, Cuba in a bruising 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden Friday night. Paret weighed 148, Ortega 145 1/2.

Fight Promotion Secrecy Deepens

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — The baffling heavy-weight championship promotional riddle, already with more angles than a geometry book, spread out to still another city Friday, and posed still another question.

The new question was: "Who met whom, and why?"

'Moose' Here In Person Of Bill Skowron

Craig Meadows — The Moose was here. Not one of those animals from the Canadian north woods but the ferocious, disabled slugger of the New York Yankees — Bill (Moose) Skowron.

Recuperating from a fractured arm, Skowron and his close friend Jerry Volpe of Englewood (N.J.) Country Club visited Joseph Stankiewicz, owner of Stanky's Hotel, this week.

Skowron and "Stanky" talked of the old days back in their home towns of Chicago, Ill., and Kenosha, Wisc. Skowron, former star lineman for Purdue University, comes from Chicago, while Stanky is a native of Chicago.

Plagued by injuries all season, the hard-hitting Yankee first baseman gave the Poconos a big boost when he told Stanky he "liked the Poconos and was enjoying his first visit in these parts very much."

Moose will be sidelined for the rest of the season, recovering from his latest injury. Earlier in the season Skowron was out quite a spell convalescing from a back injury.

Cooner Holds Golf Lead

CLEVELAND (AP) — Veteran Pete Cooper of Lakeland, Fla., shot his second straight four-under-par 67 Friday for a 134 and one-stroke lead at the halfway mark in the $25,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

Chasing Cooper with 135 were three of the tour's most talented contestants, who stormed into the runner-up spot with sub-par rounds.

Paul Harney, 1957 winner from Worcester, Mass., who gets an extra $5,000 if he wins again, made it with a 63-eight under par for the 6,966-yard course. Gene Littler, the 1953 amateur king from Singing Hills, Calif., raced into the 135 deadweight with a 64, and Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., did it with a 65.

Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., the Masters Champion and big money winner of the year, was in a four-way deadweight at 139 with Gardner Dickinson Jr. of West Palm Beach, Fla., Don Whit of Borrego Springs, Calif., and Doug Ford of Crystal River.

Record Crew Entry List

DETROIT (AP) — A record entry of 88 crews will compete Saturday and Sunday in the U.S. National Rowing Championships and Pan-American Games trials on the Detroit River. The three-time defending champions from the Detroit Boat Club share the favorite's role with the Philadelphia Vespers, Buffalo West Sides and Lake Washington Rowing Club of Seattle.

PML Heads Toward Payoff Wire

THE POCONO Mountain Baseball League swings into the next to last week of its regular season tomorrow with the first division tighter than a Scotchman on a payday. Four teams are mathematically in the race for the seasonal championship and two others still have an outside chance to gain a playoff berth.

Tomorrow's schedule has Analomink at Readers, Saylorsburg at Leighton, Bushkill at Kunkletown, Tannersville at Barrett, and West End at Eastern Poconos.

Tannersville and Kunkletown are tied for first place and lead third place West End by two games. Fourth place Leighton is two and a half games off the pace but has a makeup game to play besides the final two of the regular campaign.

Seek Runoffs

Analomink and Readers are the ninies with outside chances of gaining spots in the post-season runoffs. Both are one and a half games back of fourth place Leighton. However, there is a good chance that either Readers or Analomink will be eliminated following Sunday's result of their game.

Enjoying one of its banner seasons, the PML will close out its regular flag chase Aug. 16. The playoffs will begin Aug. 23 with the first and third place teams meeting, and the second and fourth spot nines clashing in two-of-three semi-finals.

The standings:

Team Standings

	W.	L.
Tannersville	13	3
Kunkletown	13	3
West End	11	5
Leighton	10	5
Analomink	9	6
Bushkill	6	9
Readers	3	13
Saylorsburg	3	13
Barrett	3	13

Aussies Take 2-0 Zone Lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Left-handers Rod Laver and Neale Fraser turned back a pair of fighting Italians in five hours of exhausting tennis Friday and sent Australia into a 2-0 lead in the Davis Cup inter-zone semifinals.

First Laver crushed Nicola Pietrangeli, Italy's No. 1 star, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3. Then Fraser, senior member of his squad, outlasted the giant Orlando Sirola 19-17, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, in a marathon battle which kept a small Germantown Cricket Club gallery well past suppertime.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

For Saturday, August 8, 1959
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Attended to urgent matters early since conditions may not be so easy later in the day. Don't neglect the "little" things; they often are vitally important. Be systematic.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Stop, look around you; deliberate. If you do, you will forestall mistakes, needless retreating of steps. Keep spirits high and mind on your work; don't be distracted at possible disappointments.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—A favorable day in more ways than one. Both heart and money matters favored by generous influences. Some of you may find one phase decidedly more promising, agreeable than the other.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Fine prospects ahead. If you will devote full time to essentials, worthwhile matters, and forget nonessentials. Calm thinking and procedure will be necessary to achieve success.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—A fine day. It will require vigor and initiative, however, and careful planning. Do not rush into things unprepared.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Be discerning now. Note what others are doing, and how you can better your methods. You are capable; show your best in every way.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Don't let anything disturb your equilibrium; you will need a calm, thoughtful attitude. Plan your schedule optimistically and follow through consistently to achieve top results.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—A pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Fewer Ducks Expected On Fall Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Fish and Wildlife Service has forecast marked reductions in the fall flights of ducks in the Central and Mississippi flyways and moderate decreases in the Pacific and Atlantic flyways.

W. F. Crissey, staff specialist in the branch of wildlife research, presented the official 1959 status report of waterfowl to the Waterfowl Advisory Committee.

The findings were closely in line with advance predictions except for the Pacific Flyway, which had been described as possibly having in store a few more birds than last year.

Draft Rules
The committee and officials of the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife then started a series of closed meetings to consider proposed waterfowl regulations for 1959-60.

In the Atlantic Flyway, there will be at least a moderate decrease in ducks from the already low population level of last year. The flight of Canada geese is expected to be about the same as last year but there has been a gradual decrease annually for four years. A small increase may be seen in American brant.

All-Steel School Still Possibility

BANGOR — School directors from six State Belt districts learned here this week the possibility of the state recognizing an all-steel school structure still exists.

Several months ago U. S. Steel Co. proposed to build a school for the Bangor area at a tremendous savings over the conventional type, but later pulled back its offer because it said the state would not allow reimbursement on the structure.

The state contended it could not approve the steel "package" plan for reimbursement because it included all fixtures and furnishings and the state wants separate bids from different firms on these units.

Directors called in Mrs. Jeanette Reibman, Easton, a Northampton County assemblyman, seeking her to learn from Harrisburg why such reimbursement was not allowed. Her answer came in a letter from James S. Tressler, director of the Bureau of School Buildings.

No Reason

He denied any knowledge that the all-steel, modular-type building would not be subject to reimbursement "if it meets with specifications."

Tressler said he could see "no reason" why the steel structure would not be approved for reimbursement. On this statement, directors agreed to pursue the matter further.

Mrs. Reibman also was asked on her visit to get clarification on a state letter telling the district to sign a form for fire hazards pointed out by the state in its "fix up or close up" order, then decided to hold up the work until it was decided if the state would help pay the costs.

A letter from John D. Killian III, deputy attorney general, to Mrs. Reibman, noted that the form of waiver "does not constitute a waiver of future rights" to reimbursement which would be conferred by some future legislation. Killian termed the form "merely a statement of present law."

Bureau Pressing Drive For School Fire Safety

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Department of Labor and Industry said Friday it has softened some closing orders but has not let down in its campaign to correct fire hazards in schools.

Many schools have been granted a year's extension to correct fire hazards, said John F. Dwyer, chief of the Bureau of Inspections.

"Each case is decided on an individual basis," he added.

Dwyer explained that where schools have to make major changes, the repair work and attendant equipment and scaffolding would create additional hazards while school is in session.

"Beside," he continued, "it's not easy for them (schools) to award contracts, hire an architect and raise the money in a short time."

Dwyer said the department's industrial board has been lenient, too, on closing orders in schools where temporary measures are acceptable. In some cases the board has ordered a classroom, cafeteria or assembly hall closed, a stairwell sealed off, or a fire door installed.

Since December

Dwyer's bureau cited some 3,000 schools in its joint campaign with the Public Instruction Department after last December's disastrous school fire in Chicago in which more than 90 children and Roman Catholic nuns died.

However, only three schools actually have been refused an extension and ordered closed, Dwyer reported. Another 25-30 were ordered to close their second floors after the industrial board considered their cases.

'Sheba' Next Attraction At Ross Common

WHEN the lights go up on the Ross Common Playhouse production of "Come Back, Little Sheba" next Tuesday, guest star Hilda Richards will be found in the role of Lola. The role is the pivotal one in William Inge's drama of frustration and sensitive emotion.

The action revolves about a chiropractor who was forced to quit medical school and marry the girl, and his life is bedeviled by the constant realization of what he might have been. His loving but frowsy wife takes in a young girl boarder to help make ends meet. When the disillusioned doctor sees in her flirtations with a brawny athlete a dreadful parallel to his own case, he takes to the bottle again.

Veteran Actress

Mrs. Richards has spent 15 summers in stock, and the list of plays in which she has appeared reads like the Samuel French catalogue. She is a sensitive and gifted actress whose career began at the age of eight with her father.

Mrs. Richards in addition to her full theatrical career finds time to operate a hotel in Ogunquit, Maine, with her artist husband, and has two grown sons. Her winter home is in Moose, near Scranton.

"Come Back, Little Sheba" opens at Ross Common on Tuesday, Aug. 11, and will play each night through Saturday at 8:40. The current show is "Ah! Wilderness," Eugene O'Neill's single comedy.

Carl Haswell Dies; Father Of Local Man

CARL HASWELL, of 432 Oak St., Scranton, father of Jack Haswell, circulation manager for The Daily Record, died Thursday in Scranton State Hospital after a long illness.

A native of Nanticoke, he was the son of the late John and Eliza Jones Haswell and had lived in Scranton for 40 years. Prior to his illness, he was employed as a construction worker by the Erie Railroad.

Also surviving are his wife, the former Mary Tedley; two daughters, Mrs. H. J. Isby, Clarks Summit, and Mrs. Harold Jerski, Scranton; two sisters, Mrs. Floyd Rozelle, Moscow, and Mrs. John Lerbs, Hoboken, N. J.; two brothers, Kenneth, Moscow, and Leon, Staten Island, N. Y.; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 11 a. m. Monday from the O'Donnell Funeral Home, 323 William St., Scranton, with burial in Cathedral Cemetery. Friends may call from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p. m. today and tomorrow.

Child Born In Ambulance

GREENTOWN — When the call came for the Frey Community Ambulance to take Mrs. Beverly Judge to Hahnemann Hospital, Scranton, for her second child, driver Edwin Frey and assistant Arthur Frey, thought it a routine matter.

The Judges—Mr. and Mrs. William, of Philadelphia—were visiting the Poconos on their vacation and this rather upset their plans.

When the ambulance got to Drinker St., Dunmore, it was apparent things had to be done, and William Judge was pressed into service to deliver his second child and first boy. The Freys assisted.

James Beats Challenger

ROBERT HICKEY Jr., youngest member of the Stroudsburg Chess Club attempted to unseat club champion Harold James in a series held Thursday night.

James won two of the encounters, while the third was a draw.

James Heatherington was also defeated by the champion in one game.

William P. Deering and Louis Mondelle, runner-up in challenging the champion, engaged each other and Mondelle won both games.

In the final game of the session, Edward E. Bosman defeated Mondelle in one game.

Harold Myra

Harold Myra Advances In Marine Corps

QUANTICO, Va. — Graduated from the Junior Platoon Leaders Candidate Course at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., was Harold L. Myra, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Myra of Route 1, Stroudsburg Pa.

He joined the Marine Corps program while a student at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

He is one of 2,000 students seeking commission offered by the Marine Corps to selected collegians who complete the required military training during the summer months and graduate from an accredited college.

During the six-week course, the prospective officer was trained in close combat, rifle marksmanship, combat equipment, first aid and leadership.

His next step to being commissioned a second lieutenant will be the Senior Platoon Leader Course which he will attend the Summer of his college senior year.

Former Local Man Expires

RAYMOND Roberts, Sr., 64, formerly of East Stroudsburg, died in Hicksville, Long Island, N.Y., yesterday.

He will be buried Tuesday at 2 p. m. in Laurelwood Cemetery here. Further services will be announced.

'Moon' Play Held Over Second Week

BUSHKILL — "The Moon Is Blue," which opened Tuesday at Bushkill Playhouse, is being held over for a second week due to the public response, Producer William F. Miller said yesterday.

F. Hugh Herbert's popular play of love and laughter in Manhattan will be presented for five more performances, Aug. 11 through 15.

Julie Craig continues in the starring role of Patty O'Neill, a precocious girl who meets her future husband on top of the Empire State Building in "a lovely fog."

Eighth Year

Miss Craig, a veteran summer theatre actress, is now playing her eighth season, having previously appeared in summer stock in the east, the Midwest, and the Pacific coast. Her performances in "The Moon Is Blue" at Bushkill marks the second time she has played the role of the screwball daughter of an Irish cop, with a penchant for getting into trouble.

Others in the cast are Jack Randall, who co-starred earlier in the Bushkill season with Miss Craig in "The Tunnel of Love," Sid Gorelick as the irate father, and Director Miller, as the happy lush from the apartment upstairs who crashes the party.

Miller is also playing his role for the second time with Miss Craig, both having appeared together in the comedy during the 1956 summer season with the Pandora Players in Central Illinois. Curtain time at Bushkill Playhouse is 8:40 p. m., nightly, Tuesday through Saturday, and reservations may be made by calling Luther 8-9979.

Citations Awarded To Legion Post

GEORGE N. Kemp American Legion Post 346 has been cited by the American Legion National Headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind.

Announcement of a citation for outstanding service to children and youth was made by Louis Caretta, commander of the post. Caretta gave much of the credit for winning the award to Earl Palmer, who is child welfare chairman of the post. Other members who have taken an active part in youth work are Albert Trimmer, William Morohovch, Rod Kleper and Commander Caretta.

"Child welfare is one of the American Legion's major programs," Commander Caretta said, "and we are proud that our efforts have been honored in this way."

Membership Award

Other citations awarded for the past year's activities include a special citation for a 100 percent post in membership by March 15 in addition to the regular membership citation.

Caretta himself received a special award from the national commander of the American Legion as well as citations for the post from the Ground Observers Corps, and from the Marine Corps for helping underprivileged children at Christmas time.

The post also received letters of commendation for work done both humane and community-wise.

Commander Caretta's term terminates in September. He will be succeeded by the newly elected post commander, Rodger Keiper.

Scouts Here From Florida

A GROUP of five Boy Scouts from St. Petersburg, Fla., are visiting this area through the generosity of a former local resident.

Charles Tutson, now of Florida, brings a group of Boy Scouts about every other year to visit here in order to show them some other parts of the country.

While in Monroe County they are visiting at the home of Mrs. L. Rosier, Lincoln Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Last night the boys enjoyed a sound film, and ended the evening with a wiener roast.

'Weekender' Introduced By Endicott Newspaper

ENDICOTT, N. Y. (AP)—The Endicott Bulletin Friday published a new weekend edition and announced that it would replace the former Friday and Saturday editions of the afternoon newspaper.

Henceforth, the paper will publish five days a week, with no Saturday edition. The weekend edition will have more content, according to the announcement of publisher James H. Ottaway, than the former Friday and Saturday papers, combined. Local features and pictures will be highlights.

Ottaway explained that "the entire pattern of most of our weekends has changed tremendously within the past 10 or 20 years. It's time newspapers reflected the change."

Reading Habits Change

He added that families now spend weekends together, with emphasis on outdoor living, and that reading habits have shifted. The weekly home-delivered price of the Bulletin will remain the same, 30 cents. Copies of the weekend edition will cost 10 cents, regular editions five cents.

(The Bulletin is one of five newspapers owned by Ottaway Newspapers-Radio. The Daily Record, Stroudsburg, and papers in Danbury, Conn., Oneonta and Plattsburgh, N. Y., complete the group. Radio Station WVPO, Stroudsburg, and stations in Endicott and Oneonta also are owned by the corporation.)

Dispensary Treats Three For Injuries

SOFTBALL game injuries sent two visitors in the area to the Dispensary of the Monroe County General Hospital on Thursday.

Philip Bufalo of Brooklyn, N. Y., suffered a dislocated left shoulder when he slipped and landed on it during a game.

Gregory Roy, age 12, of Rockville Center, N. Y., scooped to catch a grounder during a softball game and lacerated his left thumb. The laceration required three stitches.

George Gardner, of Lansford, was treated for an injury of the right thumb.

Lindemuth Now Serving In Japan

JAPAN — Marine Capt. Donald L. Lindemuth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben E. Lindemuth of Woodland Road, Mount Pocono, Pa., is serving with the First Marine Aircraft Wing's Air Support Squadron at the Marine Corps Air Facility, Iwakuni, Japan.

The squadron took part in a training operation from July 12 to Aug. 3, on the slopes of Mount Fuji near Tokyo, providing close air support for infantrymen of the Third Marine Division from Okinawa as they made simulated attacks against "enemy" aggressor forces.

Legion Told Of Success Of Carnival

NEWFOUNDLAND — Robert Staph presented a preliminary report on the successful carnival sponsored by Phillips-Zacharias-Phillips Post 849, American Legion, and its auxiliary, during the business meeting of the post held at the legion home with Cmdr. Claude Butler presiding.

Staph thanked those who helped to make the annual fund-raising event a success. The post discussed changing the dates of the carnival from the first week in July to nearer the end of July, but no action was taken.

Also discussed was the post's participation in the Greene-Dreher - Sterling Community Fair. The legionnaires will have charge of games during the September 2 to 5 fair.
